

ONE PAGE Bio

Name: Jerolyn Lockhart

One sentence that describes me and my writing:

I thank God for the miracle of each new day and write to convey hope in Him.

Brief bio:

Jerolyn Lockhart is a poet and writer who lives a quiet life with her husband in rural Colorado. She enjoys time with a good book, fellow believers, and experiencing the wonders of God (six of them grandkids). After having strokes that God intervened in, her vision for writing was given a new path, a path of hope for those in need.

Why I write: Writing is often a time of worship, and I want my readers to know the hope God gives. Nothing is impossible with Him and that even through the struggles, He Is God.

I write:

Fiction: short stories books

Genres:

Nonfiction: articles personal experience stories devotions books

Genres:

Other: poetry scripts

My audience Christians general public women men teens children

I'm currently working on:

A prayer book of sorts with poetry, meditations and Scriptures of healing hope. I am also updating my website where I write blog posts and post quotes for contemplation.

My greatest joy and/or struggle in writing is:

I like to think and pray on the page, but struggle with organization.

I'd like to meet writers who:

Write poetry as well as other genres.

I belong to a writers' group that is open to new members.

I would like to find a writers' group.
