Name: Kristi Ross

One sentence that describes me and my writing:

Brief bio: A lifelong Christ Lover who writes about life lessons learned from working with primarily horses, but lots of animals. I just published my first children's book following the same lines.

Why I write: To make a difference in the life of others!

I write:

Fiction: ___short stories books

Genres: Fiction based on true stories

Nonfiction: articles personal experience stories ___devotions ___books

Genres: Christian life;

Other: ___poetry ___scripts

My audience Christians ___general public women ___men ___teens children

I'm currently working on:

The true story of my daughter and her horse.

My greatest joy and/or struggle in writing is: When a reader says it touched their heart or changed their life. My greatest struggle is trying to figure out if I should self publish or go traditional!

I'd like to meet writers who: Are editors and are experienced in all this and can walk me through what I should do next.

___I belong to a writers' group that is open to new members. I belong to one, but it is not open to more people at this moment.

___I would like to find a writers' group.
