Darcie Gudger spends much of her time dodging the Wyoming wind and running an afterschool program for teens at The Science Zone. When not at work or writing, Darcie can be found paddling the river in her kayak, hiking, and walking her psychotic freak-biscuit of a dog. Her ridiculous love of books almost flattened her son when over-burdened shelves collapsed on him during his birthday party. Her husband implemented an immediate ban on physical books. Undeterred, Darcie finds creative ways to sneak books into her home and pushes her Kindle to its limits.
