Name: Christine Rhyner

One sentence that describes me and my writing: A bit of an anxious nonfiction writer, but I write to plant seeds for those who may not know Jesus and to hopefully help others to seek Him more fully.

Brief bio:

Mother to two internationally adopted children. Author of How much did you pay for her? Forgiving the Words That Hurt Adoptive Families, CLC Publications, 2015. My published works have appeared in Faith on Every Corner, Moody Magazine, Boundless Webzine, Sharing, therevolutionagainstevolution.org, Adoption Today, Adopt Vietnam and Virtue Magazine, among others. BS in Communications/Journalism.

Why I write: Because I have to. It's something that God placed in my DNA, and I always return to it, even after long hiatuses.

I write:

Fiction: short stories books

Genres:

Nonfiction: articles personal experience stories devotions books

Genres:

Other: poetry scripts

My audience Christians general public women men teens children

I'm currently working on: A memoir called, The Adopted Son Who Almost Wasn't

My greatest joy and/or struggle in writing is: To be in print and get feedback that my article or book touched someone or helped them with a struggle of their own. My biggest struggle has been giving up on writing for long periods of time when I get negative (or no) feedback!. I also have some struggle generating new ideas.

I'd like to meet writers who: Write nonfiction and understand what it's like to be transparent about that. I'd love to meet those who are better writers because there's always new things to learn!

I belong to a writers' group that is open to new members. I belong to Marlene's Thurs. evening group, but would like to find an additional group.

I would like to find a writers' group.
