

Name: Jessie Moser

Brief bio: I am a teacher nearing retirement.

Why I write: I am interested writing that promotes unity between denominations, between Catholics and evangelical, and between different nationalities and races.

I write historical fiction. I enjoy reading historical romance.

My audience is probably women.

I'm currently working on a historical fiction novel.

My greatest joy in my writing life is participating with my critique group. I started using Marlene's book, Write His Answer devotional and we have been meeting for 16 plus years.

My greatest struggle is committing time to writing without making excuses. I currently do not have a social media platform.

Email Address: ja.moser@rcn.com

Allentown, PA, USA